Types of Financial Aid

Financial aid is federal, state, institutional and private funds used to assist eligible students in funding their education. Financial aid can be a combination of scholarships, grants, loans, tuition and fee waivers, and student employment.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships are funds that do not have to be repaid. They are awarded based on an applicant meeting certain eligibility criteria. Scholarships are provided by a variety of sources on and off campus.

GRANTS

Grants are funds that do not have to be repaid. They are available to students who meet financial need criteria.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Student Employment is a self-help program that promotes student access to college while providing practical work experience. Work study is available for students who meet financial need criteria.

LOANS

Loans allow students to borrow money for educational expenses at low interest rates. Generally, loans must be repaid after you leave college.
Financial assistance includes scholarships, fellowships, grants, loans, tuition and fee waivers, work study, on-campus student employment and assistantships.

Last year over $626 million was awarded in financial assistance.

Financial assistance includes scholarships, fellowships, grants, loans, tuition and fee waivers, work study, on-campus student employment and assistantships.
Applying and Cost of Attendance

Your estimated cost of attendance (COA) doesn’t just cover your college tuition; it takes into account your basic living expenses, too. So think about this: it is going to cost you the same amount to live for the next few years whether you’re in college or not. According to the U.S. Census Bureau,* your added investment in a college education can prepare you to earn an average of $21,000 MORE a year than students who complete only high school.

When comparing financial aid packages from other schools, make sure you are comparing the total cost for attending that school, not just the total financial aid awarded.

FREE APPLICATION FOR FEDERAL STUDENT AID (FAFSA)

Complete the FAFSA online at fafsa.gov. The FAFSA is available January 1. We recommend applying as early as possible. Texas A&M has a priority date of March 15. By completing the FAFSA, you are applying for all federal, state and institutional aid. This includes grants, loans and work study. The school code for TAMU is 003632.

If you do not already have a FSA ID, you can create one when logging in to fafsa.ed.gov.

TEXAS APPLICATION FOR STATE FINANCIAL AID (TASFA)

If you are not eligible to complete the FAFSA because of citizenship or visa status, but you are eligible to be classified as a Texas resident for tuition purposes, you may apply for state financial aid through the TASFA. You must complete the TASFA to be eligible for many scholarships, grants and loans. Texas A&M has a priority date of March 15. All supporting documentation must be submitted before a TASFA is considered complete. You may download the application at financialaid.tamu.edu.

After the Application

DETERMINING YOUR FINANCIAL NEED

Your expected family contribution (EFC) is the amount of out-of-pocket expenses that you and your parent(s) are expected to provide toward your educational costs either from income, savings, or non-need-based loans. The EFC is calculated from the information you (and your parents/spouse) report on the financial aid application. It is used to determine eligibility for most student aid programs.

Texas A&M determines financial need from the information that is submitted on your financial aid application. Financial need is the basis for offering most student aid programs.

FINANCIAL NEED IS DETERMINED BY THE FOLLOWING EQUATION:

\text{FINANCIAL NEED} = \text{COST OF ATTENDANCE} - \text{EXPECTED FAMILY CONTRIBUTION}

PROCESSING YOUR FINANCIAL AID

Once we receive the results from your financial aid application, we will determine your cost of attendance and calculate your financial aid eligibility for the academic year. If you are asked to provide additional documentation by Texas A&M University, all requested documents must be received by Scholarships & Financial Aid before your aid can be processed.

NOTE: Not all students will be asked for additional information.

All offers are made on a first come, first served basis with a priority submission date of March 15. You will be notified of your offer by receiving a financial aid package in the mail or via email.
If you have received scholarships from outside sources, those resources must be reported to Scholarships & Financial Aid through the Student Data Form in the Financial Aid portal.

Once you have received notice that you have been offered financial aid, log on to the Howdy Portal at howdy.tamu.edu. Click on the My Finances tab and enter the Financial Aid Portal to accept/decline your aid. Accepting your financial aid does not confirm your admission to Texas A&M.

SHOPPING SHEET AND NET COST

The Shopping Sheet in your offer letter package provides you with a summary of aid offered, net cost (cost of attendance minus grants and scholarships) and data about Texas A&M University.

Net cost is calculated to assist you and/or your family in determining the cost of school after taking into consideration any funding that does not have to be repaid once you graduate from college.

Students and possibly their parents typically borrow from various student loan programs to help meet the total cost of educational expenses.

Non-Texas residents receiving competitively awarded scholarships administered by Texas A&M University of at least $1,000 per academic year will pay tuition at the in-state rate for each academic year the scholarship is received. This waiver is reflected on the fee statement as a credit for the difference between out-of-state tuition and in-state tuition. These waivers are automatically renewed each academic year as long as the student meets satisfactory academic progress per waiver requirements, is in good standing with the university and remains eligible for the scholarship that granted them the non-resident tuition waiver for that academic year. For more information visit scholarships.tamu.edu.
